<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. The Philippine government is planning a 10-year program in research and development in the fields of agriculture and industry.</li> <li>2. At the request of the Philippine authorities, a team of American engineers, headed by a professor of chemical engineering at Purdue University, will arrive in Manila to investigate the present research and development now being conducted by the Philippine government. The survey is scheduled to be completed by the end of March 1956. The US team will recommend means of establishing priorities and will help carry out part of these recommendations in cooperation with other Philippine organizations.</li> <li>3. The object of this 10-year program is to make the Philippines the "showcase" of the Orient. The head of this team believes the new Philippine project will complement a similar program now under way on Taiwan.</li> </ol>
